

La troupe « Kohar » chante , danse , joue du jazz sur un air folklorique « Hey djan khapama » . montage tres reussi

En plein air, devant l'Opera , en presence du president de la republiuque d'Armenie , du catholikos (chef supreme de l'Eglise apostolique armenienne) : des danseuses magnifiques , des chanteurs celebres (on reconnait Tata), un orchestre , un air floklorique celebre chez les Armeniens

"Hey Djan Khapama" jazzy et un montage video tres reussi = Kohar , une troupe nommee d'apres le prenom de la mere des mecenes du Liban (ce qui explique l'orthographe occidentale Kohar , qui serait Gohar en armenien oriental)

a regarder absolument : https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=quhlxIqw_EA

source : YouTube

<https://mail.google.com/mail/u/0/#inbox/161285aa1a6cfc25?projector=1>

source : Oto Laluna

KOHAR : son histoire :

KOHAR was founded in 1997 as an independent musical and cultural institution by the Armenian culture patron Harout Khatchadourian of Lebanon, who along with his brothers, Shahe and Nar Khatchadourian, entirely sustained the activities of KOHAR and all its concerts, in tribute to, and in memory of, their late father Aram, and named the orchestra to honor their mother 'Kohar'.

KOHAR initially started as a symphony orchestra in the year 2000, playing the music of Armenia, and other popular songs and well-known symphonies, under the helm of Creative Director and Conductor Sebouh Abcarian of Cyprus. Later the KOHAR Choir was formed to complement the work of the KOHAR Symphony Orchestra.

Consisting of over 150 musicians and 12 solo singers, along with a 15 dance-member ensemble, the Symphony Orchestra & Choir quickly grew in popularity with its initial outdoor concerts on the premises of KOHAR in Lebanon, which attracted interest and admiration from locals and overseas visitors.

Des tournées formidables

KOHAR's first major concert tour 'All Time Armenian Favourites', took place in the summer of 2002, in Cyprus and Lebanon, spread over four days. The well devised repertoire served as a distinctive cultural experience, drawing more than 4000 people to BIEL, downtown Beirut, which transformed the hall into a scenic, memorable and glorifying moment for Armenian musical history. According to media, the collection of traditional & popular songs "drew many into tears of nostalgia, reminiscence and pride".

International success

In October 2005, it was the turn for Istanbul, Turkey, to enjoy KOHAR's All Time Armenian Favorites Tour.^[1] On October 9-12, 2005, the concert was held at Lutfi Kirdar Concert Hall, with more than 7000 Armenians, and visiting audiences from Istanbul and the suburbs, and from as far away as Adana province attending.

KOHAR at the Roman Amphitheater, Zouk
Mikaël, Lebanon, 2010

KOHAR's triumphs continued from one capital to another, and on 28-29 April 2006, the Grand Hall of the Kremlin, Moscow, witnessed unprecedented enthusiasm, when almost 12,000 Armenian, Russian and foreign audiences, relished KOHAR's unique performance for the first time. It was a widely publicized rare appearance by an Armenian Orchestra in Russia, which was highly successful with the Russian audience.

KOHAR made its North American debut at the end of 2007, and conquered the major cities of the USA and Canada. The North American Tour of KOHAR began on October 18, 2007 in Los Angeles, and moved to San Francisco, Detroit, Chicago, Boston, Toronto and Montreal, before ending with the conquering of New York's Carnegie Hall on November 20, 2007.

KOHAR has continued to spread its message when touring the middle-east,^[2] commencing with the Syrian Arab Republic, and a first appearance on July 9, 2009, at [\[2\]](#) The Opera Theater of Damascus, followed by successful performances on the 15th, 16 and 17 July 2009, within the ancient fortress of the renowned world-heritage site of the Citadel of Aleppo.

KOHAR showcased its largest concert with Stars of Armenia at Liberty Square near the Opera House in the heart of Yerevan, Armenia on 28 May 2011.^[3] The star-studded event brought together the most popular singers of Armenia who performed with KOHAR their much-loved songs that are admired by fans and audiences alike.

The audience of KOHAR waving the flags of the Kingdom of Cilicia, [Liberty
Square](#), Yerevan, Armenia, 2011

The live concert was broadcast live by Armenia's Channel 1 TV and for the first time via Internet live stream. Over 10,000 spectators, in addition to tens of thousands of TV and Internet viewers from Armenia and the Diaspora, were mesmerized by KOHAR's performance of the finest tunes and the program which was dubbed as the biggest show ever performed in Armenia for its grandiose magnificent production.

KOHAR's latest production by HAYASA Productions LTD of Cyprus and Domino Production of Armenia boasted a superb 3D mapping and projection on the façade of the Opera House of images that transposed into Armenia's unyielding history from Noah's Ark to its national symbol Ararat, its rich Alphabet – the Ayp Petik – reaching historic Armenian Kingdom of Cilicia. The culmination of the night was the performance of the song "Babnagan Guligian", which topped the charts in Armenia as the Number 1 song for 8 consecutive weeks. Together with KOHAR, the audience joined in the performance waving more than 3000 flags of Kingdom of Cilicia that were distributed by the organizers. A similar enthusiasm from the audience erupted with the song “Veraganknir Guiliguia,” which has become KOHAR’s anthem.

During the course of its existence, KOHAR has become an important cornerstone, with its unique musical renditions of Armenia's favorite songs, for the Armenian Diaspora. Aiming at reviving and promulgating the Armenian alphabet and culture, and bringing its share to preserving Armenian heritage for future generations at home and abroad.

Awards and acknowledgements

In 2004, KOHAR won the Intermedia Award at the World Media Festival in Hamburg, Germany^[4] In 2005, it also won the Anoush Achievement Award at the Seventh Annual Armenian Music Awards, held at the Hollywood Palladium, California.

Patron of Armenian culture, Harout Khatchadourian of Lebanon, was awarded at the presidential palace with the “Movses Khorenatsi” medal by President Serzh Sargsyan of Armenia on 17 September 2011 for his decades of continuous and dedicated cultural contribution in different Armenian Diasporas in safeguarding and promulgating Armenian music, song, culture, Ayp Pen Kim’s (Armenian alphabet).^[5]