

Peur d'aller en Arménie ? la chronique d'un descendant sur ses « freins »...

It seems like every Sunday after church, I'm confronted by the same question: "How many times have you been to Armenia?" I never have a sufficient answer regardless of whether the question is posed by a five-year-old, or one of the Nenes [grandmothers].

At this point, there really is no excuse - Armenianness has brought me to California, Italy and France (twice each); but I have not yet stepped foot on Armenian soil. I'm a reluctant pilgrim....

source : Armenian Weekly