Chu is leading the call for the implementation of the Royce-Engel proposals for Artsakh peace through an amendment to the 2020 House National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA).

— Measure Would Support Deployment of Gunfire Locators, Additional Observers, and the Withdrawal of Snipers from the Artsakh Line-of-Contact

WASHINGTON, DC - Congresswoman Judy Chu - a senior member of the influential House Ways and Means Committee - today offered an amendment supporting the deployment of gunfire locators, the addition of observers, and the non-deployment of snipers, heavy arms, and new weaponry along the Artsakh line-of-contact.

"We welcome Representative's Chu's pro-peace amendment in support of the Royce Engel proposals - a set of common-sense initiatives to help create the conditions for a durable and democratic resolution of outstanding status and security issues between Artsakh and Azerbaijan," said ANCA Executive Director Aram Hamparian. "Launched right here in Washington, DC by the bipartisan leadership of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, these cease-fire strengthening proposals enjoy the support of Artsakh, Armenia, the United States, and the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe."

* Malgré tous les efforts de l'ANCA , le gouvernement fédéral US n'a pas (encore) reconnu le génocide des Arméniens , et cela bien que 49 Etats américains l'aient déjà reconnu .

Il reste donc la Turquie et Israel pour n'avoir pas encore reconnu le génocide des Arméniens
