Sergueï Lavrov va voir Pachinian à Yerevan , à lire sur Massis

EREVAN — Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov and Defense Minister Sergei Shoigu met in Yerevan with Armenian Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan on November 21 to discuss bilateral ties and the implementation of a Russian-brokered agreement that stopped the war in Nagorno-Karabakh.

Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan held separate talks with the delegations headed by Shoigu and Lavrov. Shoigu, Lavrov, and other visiting Russian government members also met separately with their Armenian counterparts.

Lavrov's delegation comprised Russia's Deputy Prime Ministers Alexei Overchuk and Alexei Novak as well as Health Minister Mikhail Murashko and a senior official from the Federal Security Service.
