8:00 AM - 12:00 PM PST

7:00 PM - 11 PM AMT

This two-day conference, held virtually over Zoom, will provide a platform to discuss and better understand gender-related issues in the present-day Republic of Armenia.

PANELS:

- Armenia's Gender Trouble: Deconstructing "Anti-Genderism" From Historical, Linguistic, and Socio-Cultural Anthropological Perspectives
- Politics and Representation: Uprooting Sexism, Racism, and Homophobia in Education, Decision Making, and Public Discourse
- Equity and Empowerment: Creating and Distributing Resources Beyond the Gap
- War, Trauma, and Displacement: Gender and Building Peace

The conference is organized by the Zoryan Institute in partnership with UCLA Promise Armenian Institute, with the support of NAASR, the Ararat-Eskijian Museum, the UCLA Gender Studies Department and the UCLA Center for Near Eastern Studies.
