Welcome our Speakers

George Aghjayan Director of the ARF Archives

George Aghjayan is the Director of the ARF Archives and a member of the Armenian Revolutionary Federation (ARF) Central Committee of the Eastern United States. Aghjayan graduated with honors from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1988 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Actuarial Mathematics. He achieved Fellowship in the Society of Actuaries in 1996. After a career in both insurance and structured finance, Aghjayan retired in 2014 to concentrate on Armenian related research and projects. His primary area of focus is the demographics and geography of western Armenia as well as a keen interest in the hidden Armenians living there today. Other topics he has written and lectured on include Armenian genealogy and genocide denial. He is a frequent contributor to the Armenian Weekly and Houshamadyan.org, and the creator and curator for westernarmenia.weebly.com, a website dedicated to the preservation of Armenian culture in Western Armenia.

Ani Hovannisian

Primetime Emmy Nominee "The Hidden Map"

Ani Hovannisian's feature documentary, The Hidden Map, premiered nationwide on NBCXL in April 2021, coinciding with the U.S.' official recognition of the Armenian Genocide. Overwhelming audience and critical response prompted nine encore broadcasts. It was also the top broadcast on PBS SoCal and KCET in December, leading to national distribution on PBS. The film aired more than 1,500 times in markets across the US. The Hidden Map has earned more than a dozen honors at international film festivals and was considered for three Primetime Emmys.

The Hidden Map journeys into the hidden past of Turkey and dares to uncover the buried truth of exiled genocide survivors in their lost ancestral homeland. A chance encounter with a Scottish explorer leads to a joint odyssey revealing sacred relics, silenced voices, fearless resilience and the hidden map!
