This Giving Tuesday, help bring healing to Armenians who are hurting

In a time of shifting winds and uncertain outcomes, preparation can be the future's best friend. And during this holiday season, too many families in Armenia and worldwide are still hurting-- due to a political upheaval, an economic crisis, a public health issue or a natural or manmade disaster. They need to know that, whether the world cares or not, Armenians will always be there for each other.

With your Giving Tuesday gift to AGBU Global Relief Fund, we can quickly access the necessary funding to mobilize our local chapters, Young Professionals, and volunteers to deliver on-the-ground practical solutions with the human touch.

Please donate generously during this holiday season of giving.
